Cooking on a hot plate.

The hot plate on a Quan fire plate lends itself to cooking a far greater variety of delicious, mouth-watering foods of various shapes and sizes. Besides meat, fish and vegetables, food such as soup, eggs and cheese can be successfully cooked using a pan and unlike a barbecue, even chopped and grated items will stay on the hot plate and not fall into the embers beneath.

By using a square hot plate different heating zones are created, ranging from 300°C in the centre to below 100°C at the corners. This allows you to control the speed of cooking and prepare food to your specific taste and timing.

Raising the temperature.

When cooking on a Quan fire plate, the hot plate reaches a far higher temperature than a typical barbecue and because of the engineered channels and vents, it achieves its optimum temperature quickly. This is essential for cooking outdoors as it ensures that your food is sealed on the outside, helping to retain all of its natural juices and flavours. This culminates in a gourmet experience unlike any other.

The best of both worlds.

The joys and advantages of cooking on a Quan fire plate are many but if you still want to enjoy the 'low and slow' form of cooking on a barbecue, Quan offers a barbecue accessory that conveniently sits above the fire pit, enabling you to have the best of both worlds.

Fire Plates

Quan Premium

The Quan Premium line is a result of a long engineering process and many tests. Building on the structural integrity, practicality and inherent beauty of our Quan range of products, the Premium line takes the experience to an even higher level. The sturdy double-ply base and a thicker 15mm carbon steel top plate ensure durability. For ease of use and maintenance we have also included an externally accessed ashtray.

Available sizes: Medium and Large
Available finishes: Corten and Carbon

Quan Premium construction

1

The top plate is made from 15mm carbon steel which can reach up to 400°C in the centre area. The outer area remains slightly cooler, perfect for controlling the speed of cooking.

2

The inner bowl is made of stainless steel and can be removed for cleaning.

3

As the outer bowl is a separate piece to the inner bowl, it provides a protective barrier from the heat of the fire within.

4

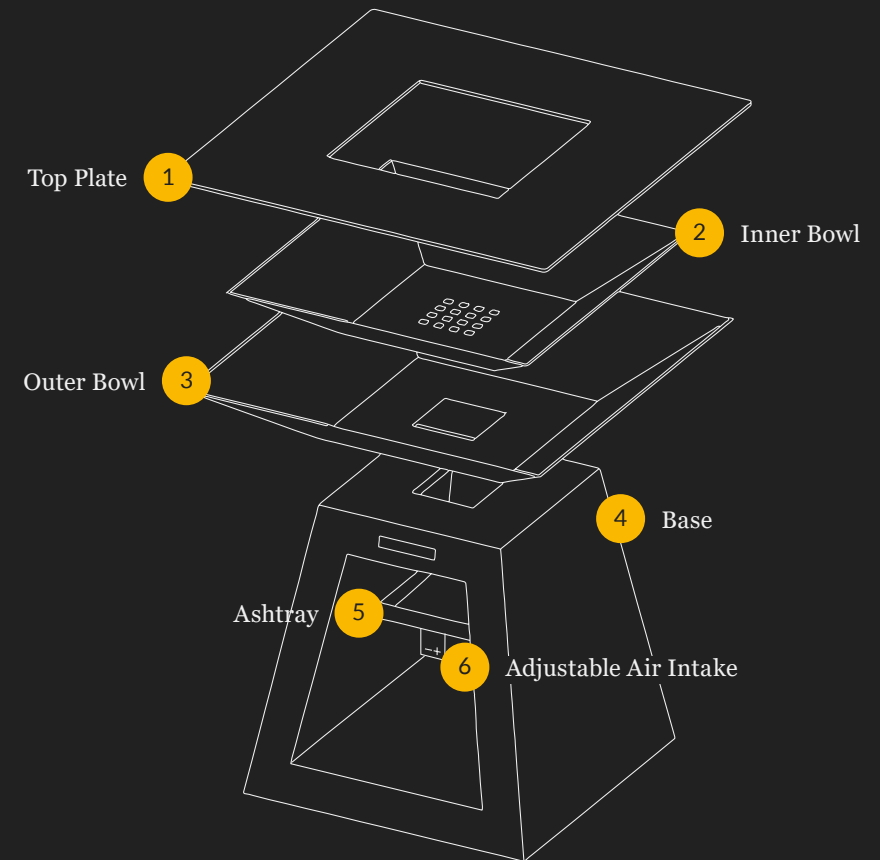

The sturdy double-ply base also serves as an air intake, utilising channels and vents that provide an optimum amount of airflow that aid in ignition and causes less smoke.

5

Within the base there is an ashtray for quick and easy removal of ash from the bottom of the fire plate.

6

As part of the Quan Airflow Design, there is an adjustable air intake which enables the intensity of the fire to be controlled.

Rolling Kitchen

The Rolling Kitchen is a complete outdoor kitchen on wheels. Equipped with an optional washbasin and water heater it covers all the needs of an outdoor BBQ chef. There is plenty of space for food preparation on a durable granite or wood worktop and a large woodstorage underneath for long cooking sessions. Positioned on castors it can be easily relocated.

Available finishes: Corten and Carbon

Quan Line

Top quality for a medium budget is the philosophy behind the Quan line, which focuses all of our experience with wood-fired fire plates in a smaller and more affordable form factor. All products have full functionality without any compromise on quality.

Available sizes: Small, Medium and Medium Island , Camping Medium and Camping Small

Available finishes: Corten and Carbon
